

Officers find body of missing Missouri fisherman

CAPLINGER MILLS, Mo.

| Authorities have found the body of a fisherman who was swept over the side of a dam in Cedar County.

The Missouri State Water Patrol identified the victim as 44-year-old Kenneth Houk of Jerico Springs.

The patrol said his body was found around 5:35 a.m. Sunday as officers were wading in water about 45 to 50 yards downstream from where Houk was last seen.

Houk was wearing a personal flotation device, but it was not buckled when the accident happened Saturday.

— From AP reports